

I am writing concerning the LPFM service. I would ask you to consider what this might do to natl svc such as K-LOVE. This station is of tremendous value to my family, as a family-friendly station. My children, husband, and I listen to this station exclusively and would be devastated if it possibly went off air. We financially give to this station annually. I know many friends in our church and community enjoy and value this station. There is only one local Christian radio station, and with more programming and less music, our family enjoys K-LOVE. This is one of the few stations in our area, albeit a national station, that can be listened to and enjoyed by the whole family (age ranges 3-up). With the decline of "traditional" families and the time spent in the car running now, it is so important for families to have something they all can enjoy that is age-appropriate. I ask you to please not force translators off the air with the proposed rule changes and LPFM given priority over FM translator service. Thank you.
